Workers from across the globe come out in force to support Qantas workers

We support
Qantas families

International unions have thrown their full support behind Qantas Families on ITF Action Day, 16 November 2011, calling for management to stop outsourcing and offshoring Qantas jobs.

Some of the support from around the world included:

Europe (UK): Trade union representatives gathered at Australia House in support of Qantas employees who were locked out during the recent industrial dispute with the Australian airline's management. Actors in Kangaroo costumes staged mock battles with people wearing Alan Joyce (Qantas CEO) masks.

EUROPE

South East Asia (Philippines): The Philippine Airlines Employees' Association (PALEA) picketed the Qantas office and Australian embassy in a show of solidarity for the embattled workers of the Australian flag carrier. "We extend the hand of solidarity to our brothers and sisters at Qantas who are for fighting for job security, decent pay and better working conditions. The struggles they are waging mirror the same demands that we are currently fighting for at PAL," declared Gerry Rivera, PALEA president and vice chair of Partido ng Manggagawa.

USA

North America (US): Members of the Teamsters joined in a multi-union action at LAX and DFW international airports in Los Angeles and Dallas as part of a day of global solidarity with the tens of thousands of Qantas airline employees who were cruelly locked out by their own employer last month.
