

your rights at work AT QANTAS worth joining for

19 OCTOBER 2011

Qantas Gives Offer With No Job Protections

After over 8 months of negotiations, Qantas management have finally put an offer on the table at the last meeting with your TWU negotiation committee.

Presented from the office of the CEO Alan Joyce (Mr 71%), all that was offered was a 3% each year with some changes to higher duties and part time rules....that's it!

Nothing else:

- X no real job security
- X no protection from contracting out or labour hire
- X no protection from QGS undermining your pay and conditions
- X no other changes or consideration to any of the other provisions of TWU members claims.

Qantas managers cannot treat its workforce, the real spirit of Qantas, with this sort of disrespect and your TWU negotiating team are not going to be bullied or intimidated into selling TWU members short.

Qantas has paid $61 Million dollars to its top 4 executives over the last 4 years but they wont even give job guarantees to the people who have made the company great, its workers.

TWU Members take action in WA

Your TWU team of delegates and negotiators are determined to make sure you get real protections, wages and job security from this campaign and we will be stepping up the fight to make sure this happens in the weeks ahead.

Where to from here?

Given the Qantas position, TWU delegates are resolved to undertake national report back stop work meetings across the country next week.

We will also be considering our claim position and seeking a further meetings with the company to secure your future.

For more information, contact your local TWU delegate or official or call the infoline on (02) 8114 6530. We will have more updates available soon.