

BONZA UPDATE

Following today's sudden cancellation of flights, the TWU has urgently contacted Bonza to provide clarity and commence discussions on workers being prioritised.

WE'VE WRITTEN TO BONZA

- We've written to Bonza and demanded an urgent meeting to discuss impact on workers
- Workers must remain at the centre of consultation and must be prioritised
- If the company does go into administration, we will be with members every step of the way
- We will keep members updated with any changes

THE TWU PLAN FOR THE FUTURE OF AVIATION

- We know that with such a volatile aviation industry, smaller carriers like Bonza struggle against Qantas and Virgin's market dominance
- Qantas in particular has led an industry race to the bottom on pay and conditions for workers, while paying executives millions
- That's why the TWU is calling for a Safe and Secure Skies Commission to protect all workers
- This week aviation members around the country will meet to discuss our plan and how to make aviation better
