

DNATA MUST LISTEN: TWU MEMBERS DEMAND GENUINE CONSULTATION

The company must discuss their proposed changes to alignment of rosters and pay cycles with the TWU urgently. Choosing not to consult with workers is a deliberate management tactic to disregard workers' concerns.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW

Your Enterprise Agreement (EA) sets out that before the company enters a decision making process to introduce a major change, they must first discuss it with the TWU.

- ▶ The company has not tried to seek feedback from the Union or provided details on how the changes will affect workers.
- ▶ The TWU was not invited to any Town Halls by the company.
- ▶ We told them that any changes to the EA must be negotiated, and they can list their proposed changes in their log of claims.
