

TWU WIN - PERTH HOTEL UPDATE

TWU members have consistently raised issues with accommodation in Perth, and we've have a significant win today thanks to your persistence.

Following a TWU meeting today with the company, VA has now committed to starting the hotel contract tender process early - a step in the right direction to rectify the accommodation issues in Perth.

What this means for crew

- Union and management reps will be doing joint inspections based on the standards in your EA
- The process will kick off over the next few weeks

What's next?

The below-standard Townsville hotel, which was recently used as an overflow option, has now been removed from the access list, meaning it will no longer be booked for crew stays. VA is reviewing how it was booked, and we'll share their process with you and push for changes to prevent this happening again.

Your voice matters

This happened because you spoke up. You reported below standard conditions, stuck together, and made enough noise to push for change.

Let's keep the momentum going

This is your reminder to fill out our TWU survey on issues that matter to you most in your workplace.

Fill out the survey here.

