

YOU SIGNED THE PLEDGE NOW LET'S TAKE ACTION TO WIN IT TOGETHER

Earlier this year, you added your name to the Swissport workers' claim for fair pay, secure hours and safe workplaces. More than 400 Swissport workers signed that pledge - a clear signal that workers are standing together to demand better. But signing the pledge is only the first step.

WHAT SWISSPORT TWU MEMBERS HAVE DONE IN 2026

FEBRUARY: NATIONAL SWISSPORT BLITZ (16-20 FEBRUARY)

We hit Swissport sites nationwide, with workers demanding immediate action from Swissport and its airline clients to deliver:

- ✓ Fair pay and conditions in line with industry standards
- ✓ Secure, full-time hours
- ✓ Safe systems of work

MARCH: NATIONAL DAY OF ACTION

Hundreds of TWU aviation workers protested Swissport's operations in airports right across the country, calling out:

- ⚠ Dangerous safety standards
- ⚠ Chronic understaffing
- ⚠ Race-to-the-bottom business model Swissport relies on

You sent a clear message: Swissport and its clients must lift wages, safety and conditions or workers will take further industrial action if necessary.

That leverage comes from organised membership.

ROSTER DISPUTE FILED IN THE FAIR WORK COMMISSION

We've lodged a formal dispute in the Fair Work Commission over Swissport's failure to provide rosters with enough notice - a clear breach of the Enterprise Agreement.

APRIL: THE BOOTS FIGHT

Swissport, a rich multinational corporation, is making minimum-wage workers to pay for their own safety boots. This is unlawful under WHS/OHS legislation. The TWU is demanding:

- Reimbursement for workers who have already paid
- Immediate compliance with the law going forward

WHY JOINING THE TWU MATTERS NOW

We're fighting to set industry-wide standards, so Swissport can no longer push conditions down to (and sometimes below) the legal minimum.

You've done the first step by supporting the pledge. Now we turn that into real power.
