

THIRD LEGAL DISPUTE LAUNCHED AGAINST FEDEX

Today the TWU launched its third legal dispute against FedEx.

It challenges FedEx's refusal to bargain in good faith by:

- ✗ Refusing to negotiate with workers' member-led bargaining committee
- ✗ Recycling rejected agreements and putting worse versions back out to vote
- ✗ Refusing to be honest with workers about the real risks to job security.

THE AUSTRALIAN

Transport Workers Union drags FedEx to Federal Court as delivery giant accused of punishing striking staff

earlier this week

NO PLACE FOR AMERICAN-STYLE TACTICS

In just weeks, the TWU has launched three legal actions against FedEx for:

FAILING TO PROVIDE INFORMATION

That union members needed for proper bargaining and a fair vote

TARGETING WORKERS

Taking action against workers for exercising protected rights, including protected industrial action

REFUSING TO MEET

Refusing to return to the table while pushing votes on worsening agreements to wear workers down

FedEx needs to leave its anti-worker tactics in the United States. In Australia, workers have rights – we will fight to defend them.

BE READY TO

VOTE NO

FedEx will force another vote next week.

Every worker must be ready to VOTE NO.
